DR. W. KOEHLER,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
Deutscher Zahnarzt.

HAVING RECEIVED A NEW SUPPLY OF DENTAL Instruments, I, as heretofore, take pleasure in stating to my patrons and the public generally that I am prepared to perform all operations belonging to the Dental Department by the newest methods, in the most scientific and most skillful manner.

I also take this opportunity to thank the citizens of Portland and vicinity for their liberal patronage during my residence in this city, and hope, by doing my work not only in conformity to their most economical interests, but also in a style of workmanship not surpassed by any other Dental operator, to make it my best return to maintain your confidence.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, in the newest and most improved methods, constructed on the following materials:
GOLD, PLATINA, SILVER, RUBBER, AMBER, or CORALITE BASE,
at the option of the Patient.

The Extraction of Teeth by his method is new to every other, as the patient need not undergo the unpleasant, not dangerous state of inhaling Chloroform, but will have his tooth extracted without that horrid pain [illegible] be generally treated in the last miserable moment of suffering.

All operations warranted to give satisfaction, or no charge will be made.

Special attention paid to the regulation of children's teeth.

Difficult Dental Operations particularly solicited.

Ladies waited on at their residences if desired.

References of Physicians and Families given at the Office.

Prices will be moderate in all cases.

The News.

The news is good news, and as we have no dispatch this morning, we are encouraged to hope that there are no unfavorable tidings in the East. We publish full details of the exploits of the rebel vessel called the Tacony and a sister craft, the Archer; they are somewhat startling, as a good many things are nowadays. Fortunately, the Tacony's career of mischief and wickedness is over. We trust no successor will ever be allowed to accomplish equal damage in northern waters.

GENERAL PAYNE'S PLAN OF PAYING NEGRO LABORERS ON THE PLANTATIONS.—The following is an extract from a letter sent by General Payne to General Rosecrans. It is creditable to both the head and heart of Gen. Payne, and the intelligence it conveys is highly important and gratifying:

Gallatin (Tenn.), June 1st.—My plan for changing slave to hired labor is working admirably. We are hiring the black people to their own masters. We say to the servant that he is to have eight dollars per month, and is to be faithful and good, and work hard. We say to him, in the presence of his former owner, that if his employer does not pay him at the end of the month, in good money, then he is to return. We make written contracts, in which the slave is only known as a hired man.

The Fairview estate has upon it 100 slaves. The estate is four miles from here. The trustees and overseers came to me to go there and compel the black people to work. I told them I should do so, but should make it a charge on the estate to pay them for their labor. They at once agreed to it. I went down and told the black men they should have eight dollars per month and the women five dollars. I would stop the pay of any lazy and disobedient servant, and would punish him besides. You can form no idea of the change in these people. The overseer is compelled to report to me each week, and he says there has never been anything like it. They never had so much work done, nor half as well done, before.

SOUTHERN UNITY.—The Richmond Enquirer of May 20th, admits that there is a large number of persons in the Confederacy whose fidelity to the rebel cause depends entirely upon rebel successes, and who, anticipating the fall of Vicksburg, begin already to talk of peace and compromise, and of overtures to the Northwest. That paper says:

If it be fated that, in spite of all human valor and devotion can do, Vicksburg and its brave defenders should become the prey of our enemy, then indeed will come the tug of war. Then, also, will come the political crisis. Whatever of imbecility and faint-heartedness and downright latent toryism and treason exist in this Confederacy will receive a new accession of weakness, many will begin again to cry out for an "honorable peace," as they will call it, by means of submission to one section of our invading foes who are now raging over our country with fire and sword.—The doctrine of the necessary unity of the Mississippi Valley from Lake Itasca to the Gulf, will be again revived by political geographers of feeble knees as if the Mississippi river were different from all other rivers; as if there was any more unity or continuity in its shores than in the shore of the sea; as if the Great West had a right to our country because the water flows from their lands into ours; all this sad nonsense, which is nothing but a cloak for treason and an excuse for cowardice, would be echoed and reverberated over the land again.

THE GRANARIES OF MINNESOTA AND WISCONSIN.—The La Crosse Democrat speaks as follows of the great strides of agriculture in a region which ten years ago was a wilderness. It says:

We begin to think that the granaries of Minnesota and northwestern Wisconsin will never give out; there is no end to the amount, judging from the heavy loads the steamers are continually landing at the depot of the La Crosse and Milwaukie Railroad. Where does it all come from? is the frequent inquiry of the people. We can hardly tell. It seems impossible that there can be much more left, yet steamboat men tell us that the grain is not near all hauled to the shipping points on the river. What will this country be ten years hence, at this rate? Imagine the amount of transportation that will become necessary to carry the produce of the upper country to market. It is hard to say what will be the amount of shipments of small grain this season, but it will be well into the millions.

NATURAL.—The Custom House Editor continues to be ferocious and false in his slanderous abuse. All right: we shall not complain, for it harms no one but himself, and is the accustomed development of his nature. We have no time now to reply to his coarse vituperations, and indeed scarcely deem it worthy of notice, for those who know him will not be at all troubled or bothered to understand the cause of his base and wicked falsehoods.

THE CONFEDERATE LOAN.—The Richmond Enquirer says that the reason why the rebel government's $15,000,000 bonds, recently issued in London, sold so high, was because they can be used by the blockade runners, in paying the export duty on cotton, in lieu of specie, while no other rebel government issue is receivable for the same purpose.

Letter from Boise Mines.

(PER [illegible] & CO.'S EXPRESS.)

PLACERVILLE, Idaho Terr., June 21, 1863.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The rush this spring to the Boise mines, was frantic; and the contagion of the gold fever spared neither age nor sex. But violently as it raged, it was but a small matter compared to the rush from Boise to Owyhee. Twenty-five hundred men have distractedly rushed off to the last named place, with packs on their backs, afoot; with packs on horses, a horseback; with their picks, shovels and pans, and a very limited supply of grub.

THE WAY IT STARTED.

Several individuals came in, a week or two ago, from the Owyhee; reporting that they belonged to a party of men who had been prospecting on the tributaries of that stream for several weeks. They stated, so far as I have learned, that their prospects ranged from one to seventeen cents to the pan, and this story rapidly grew to the dimensions of six bits to two dollars to pan. Then the excitement began; then the mercurial American people began to display unusual energy in buying horses, tools, &c., and immediately starting to go to Owyhee. Boise stock came down like the mercury of a thermometer when placed in refrigerator, and owners of five thousand dollar claims looked as if they would like to take about half that money—voting themselves the unluckiest of men because they could not go to Owyhee. In fact, the Owyhee excitement was a kind of special insanity—lasting about forty-eight hours, and then subsiding. In the meantime, the Boise mines are fast recovering their equanimity, and many think that a beggarly six dollars a day is better than rushing off to the new diggings.

GOLD AND SILVER QUARTZ.

There are many gold and silver-bearing lodes of quartz in this vicinity, of unsurpassed richness; but I do not propose to mention any of them by name—leaving all who are interested to look for themselves. Over in the forks of Boise veins have been discovered, fully equalling the lodes at Washoe.—From that locality I have seen specimens—nearly a bushel in all—which contain both gold and silver; much of both metals being nearly pure.

TIMES IN THE MINES.

Provisions are none too plenty, and many articles are not to be had. Prices range high for everything but flour and bacon, which are at living rates. Pretty much all the men left, after the Owyhee excitement, are employed, and money is freely circulated. Without being as rich as the Florence mines were, there is room for more miners; there is more water and better facilities for mining than could be obtained in that section of country.

EXPRESS ARRANGEMENTS.

I am gratified to notice, at last, the establishment of a regular means of communication between Walla Walla and this place. Messrs. Rockfellow & Co. are now making regular weekly trips each way from Walla Walla to Placerville, and each of the mining camps in the Boise mines. This express connects with Wells, Fargo & Co., at Walla Walla, and from this connection, their patrons derive the advantage of having their letters and packages transmitted without interruption. Letters for Boise, sent through Wells, Fargo & Co, will be forwarded by Rockfellow & Co.'s line. The entire business at the mines is under the control of Wm. A. Yates, who has had many years experience in the business in California, is highly qualified to give popularity and permanence to the enterprise. The line is fully stocked, arrivals regular, and time, fast.

PROSPECTS FOR THE BALANCE OF THE SEASON.

The immigrants for the present year will find extensive and unoccupied gold discoveries awaiting their arrival, instead of the overcrowded mines about Auburn, as was the case last season. Yet I do not anticipate any great increase of the gold product until the coming year; as the water to work the mines will become scarce as the season advances. HAL.

The Great Shoshone Falls.

261 GREEN STREET, NEW YORK,
April 8th, 1863.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

As our miners are scouring the country between the Blue and Rocky mountains, I wish to call attention to the great "Shoshone falls," on Snake river, eight miles above Rock creek. I visited them in company with two U. S. Officers and the guide, Oliver Brishors, in August, 1849, during the march of the Regiment of Mounted Rifleman. The spot is about 125 miles below Fort Hall, and 25 miles above the Salmon falls.

This cataract, which is second only to the Niagara, on this continent, is situated in the great canyon, and is visible only on reaching its edge. We estimated it at 180 feet in height. A succession of other falls and rapids precede it, the total descent of the river between it and Fort Hall being probably 1500 or 2000 feet. Capt. Brent, formerly U. S. Quartermaster at Fort Vancouver, and some others afterward visited it on their way to Salt Lake.

I published an account of it some years ago, but it attracted little attention, and in the hope that some draughts-man or photographer may procure a good view of this remarkable scene, I ask your insertion of this note.

The fall is accessible on the South side of the river. We took our mules down to the brink, and succeeded in getting to its foot ourselves. Very truly yours, &c.,

GEORGE GIBBS.

THE FIREMEN.—The members of Jackson Engine Company arrived at home last evening, looking well, but somewhat fatigued after the festivities of the Fourth. The boys speak in high terms of their reception, and the manner in which they were entertained by the firemen and citizens of Portland. The reception ball was a grand affair, and is said to have eclipsed anything of the kind ever before got up in Oregon. During their entire stay, and in going and coming, the firemen received nothing but kindness and expressions of good will, for all of which they are duly thankful, and in future it will be their highest ambition to merit the kind regard in which they are held. Under all the circumstances, the people of the Dalles have the assurance that their Fire Company reflected credit upon the city.—Mountaineer.

NEW MODE OF BLOCKADE RUNNING.—A rebel letter says the Federals have adopted a new mode of running the blockade—that is, instead of taking in a cargo in a boat, they set barrels of provisions adrift, and allow them to float past the batteries at Vicksburg, when they are fished out by the fleet. The trick has been discovered by Confederates, and their men have gone to fishing, and the result; so far, has been the catching of a number of barrels of salt mackerel, pork, &c., perhaps the first time that salt fish were ever caught in the Mississippi.

One of the Van Norman children, a little girl twelve years old, has been found with the Bannock Indians. The chief was killed who had her, and she is now being taken care of by the whites.

Letter from Capt. Crawford, of the Overland Escort.

FIRST CAMP ON PLATTE RIVER, 40 MILES FROM OMAHA, June 9th, 1863.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Having got my company started, I will improve this rainy afternoon by giving you a few ideas of things in general, and the emigrant escort in particular. You will recollect I left Portland on the 24th of February. We had a fair run, arriving in San Francisco on the 1st of March: left San Francisco on the 2d, and arrived in New York on the morning of the 26th, thus making the trip from Portland in 28 days.

From New York I went direct to Washington, where I was engaged for two weeks making the necessary arrangements for my overland trip. During that time I had the pleasure of visiting the army of the Potomac, and remaining two days a guest of our gallant Gen. Hooker. I also met the chief quartermaster, Col. Ingalls. Both the general and colonel treated me with great kindness, and made my stay very agreeable. The weather was very unpleasant; snow had fallen some four inches deep the day before, and was going off with a drizzling rain, thus giving me an opportunity to become acquainted with the peculiarities of Virginia mud.

Much has been said and written concerning the peculiar soil of the Old Dominion, but no adequate idea can be formed without personal observation of the difficulty of locomotion after a rain. I can readily understand, after what I saw, the term "mud bound," when applied to an army. So far as I could see, the men were comfortably tented and well supplied, and seemed to have great confidence in their general. During my stay I went to the Rappahannock, opposite Fredericksburg, looking over into that old town, I could easily see the rebels strolling about the streets and along the river bank. The town looked much dilapidated, and with a glass we could plainly see shot holes in the buildings. There were no rebel camps nor flags to be seen.

The War Department at Washington was much crowded with business, as must necessarily be the case when such immense armies are employed, nevertheless both the secretary of war and adjutant-general showed a disposition to attend to my business at the earliest possible moment. I could plainly see that our interests have not been neglected by our representatives, and Oregon is known and appreciated at the national capital. On my way from Washington to St. Louis, I called on Senator Nesmith, at Cincinnati, and was sorry to find him quite unwell; still he was preparing for a trip overland to Oregon. Being detained in St. Louis several days, making purchases for my outfit, the senator joined me there, and we traveled together to St. Joseph.

Traveling, however, instead of improving his health, as he hoped, had the contrary effect, and on his arrival at St. Joseph he was so unwell as to be compelled to keep his bed a considerable portion of the time. In this condition, it was sheer folly to attempt a trip in the stage, especially as they were much crowded every day, and he was compelled to abandon the journey; and after resting a few days started back to join his family.

Having purchased arms, ammunition and blankets in New York, and tents, saddles, harness, &c., in St. Louis, I purchased wagons and a portion of my animals at St. Joseph, and proceeded to Omaha, where my brother had been for some time enlisting the men to compose my company.

I found property of all kinds considerably higher than last year, and such things as I had to purchase had advanced about 30 per cent., owing to the increased demand and scarcity of labor, on account of large government contracts and so many men being employed in the army. When money is plenty and labor scarce, property of all kinds will rise in value; and it is to this state of things, and not to the rate of exchange for gold, that the high prices should be attributed. Nothing but paper money is used here. I have not seen a piece of silver or gold of any denomination passing since my arrival in New York. Were the prices of property here controlled (as some people in Oregon maintain) by the relative value of paper to gold, of course they would be fluctuating daily, according to the rate of exchange in Wall street. Such, however, is not the case, and I have not once heard the rate of exchange mentioned since leaving New York. No one here appears to care about the price of gold. Prices are regulated by supply and demand, the same as if gold and silver were the only currency in use; and I do not believe that property is any higher than it would have been had every dollar disbursed by the government during this war been paid in gold. Oregonians of '49 to '55, when fabulous prices were paid in gold for all kinds of property, ought at least to understand this matter.

Business is very lively in all these Western towns. In St. Louis a number of steamers were loading for Fort Benton, and in Leavenworth, St. Joseph, Nebraska City and Omaha, trains are outfitting for Pike's Peak, Denver, Salt Lake, Bannock City and Boise, with loads of goods and provisions, and thousands of emigrant families are starting for various destinations on the Pacific coast. Besides these, a very large number of Mormons are collecting near Omaha, and there are said to be a thousand wagons coming from Salt Lake after them. On my arrival at Omaha, I found the camp established, and a considerable portion of my company enlisted. The demand for men was such as to render it far more difficult than formerly to get the number required for my company; still, when other things were ready I found the ranks full. My company, all told, numbers seventy men; I have twelve wagons for transportation of provisions, baggage, &c.

We left Omaha on the 4th of June. The weather had been remarkably fine during the month of May; the grass was well grown and the roads were good. On the night of the 6th June the rain commenced falling, and has continued almost without intermission for three days, in consequence of which we have been compelled to lay up.

This rain is a perfect God-send to this country. Everything in the way of vegetation was suffering, and the rivers were so low as to render navigation almost impossible. The boats loaded in St. Louis for Fort Benton were lying aground below Leavenworth at last accounts.

As soon as the weather will permit, I shall pursue my journey, and hope to reach Fort Laramie by the 4th of July, and the crossing of Snake river, above Fort Hall by the 20th of August.

We hear of many threatening demonstrations on the part of the Indians, but hope to get the emigrants through their country without any serious collision; but should they be inclined to show fight I shall try and be prepared to give them a warm reception.

I expect to go down on the north side of Snake river to Boise, and may disband my company at that place.

Should time and opportunity permit, I will write to you again.

Very respectfully, yours,

MEDOREM CRAWFORD.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Capture of Rebel Privateers off Portland, Maine!

BATH, Maine, June 26th.—A pilot from Southport, Maine, reports that forty sail of vessels were destroyed by a pirate steamer off Cape Sable yesterday and the day before, and several large vessels were destroyed.

PORTLAND, Maine, June 27.—The revenue cutter Caleb Cushing was run off last night. She was heavily armed and provisioned for two months. Steamers were sent in pursuit. Two are now engaging her. The guns can be distinctly heard here.

PORTLAND (Me.), June 27.—The revenue cutter which was reported this morning, run out of this harbor, pursued by two steamers, it is now ascertained, came to, took in sail and was soon after discovered to be on fire. At twenty minutes past two o'clock she blew up with a tremendous report. Nothing of her crew is visible from the observatories. It is supposed she was blown up by her crew. The steamers are returning.

PORTLAND (Me.), June 27.—The schooner Archer came in last night and anchored below the Narrows, intending to burn the two gunboats building in Portland and cut out the revenue cutter Cushing. At two o'clock this morning she boarded the Cushing, and immediately put a small portion of the crew then aboard in irons, and made her way out of the harbor. The steamers Forest City and Chesapeake went in pursuit, and captured the Archer, and sent her up to the city. Both of them followed the Cushing, overtaking her, and prepared to board, but the crew, becoming frightened, abandoned the Cushing in two boats, sending off a third boat with the regular crew, whom they had put in irons. This last boat was picked up by the Chesapeake. The other two with the rebels aboard were pursued and picked up by the Forest City. They proved to be 23 in number. Two books were found on the prisoners—a memorandum book with instructions, and a book containing a partial list of the vessels captured by the rebels. The commandant of the fort informed us that it appeared from the memorandum that Lieut. Reade and crew went aboard the Tacony about the 14th of May. On the morning of the 25th of June it seems they burned the Tacony and went on board the Archer. The crew of the Cushing report that a boat's crew of ten men escaped from her this morning. If this be so, they may seize some other schooner and make more trouble. Capt. Toscane, of the Forest City, thinks there are three more schooners, with rebel crews aboard, on our coast destroying fishing smacks. The Archer had only a howitzer on board, and the schooners are probably lightly armed. Lieut. Reade's "log book" states that he burned the Tacony, of which he was commander, on finding that the vessels of the Federal Government were after him.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Letters from the City of Mexico state that President Juarez and cabinet, on the 30th of May, determined to abandon the city, believing that more determined resistance could be made outside the walls. The government accordingly removed to San Luis Potosi. They removed all the firearms, and carried $2,000,000 from the treasury. The church party then invited Forey to take possession.

MOKELUMNE HILL, August 30, 1860.
Having had occasion to employ several operators to construct a set of artificial teeth for me, but without having derived any benefit from them, I at last consulted Dr. W. KOEHLER, in whom I gave my case for another trial. He made me a full set of teeth, which I am now wearing with all the comfort and satisfaction desired and I would recommend him to all in need of the services of a skillful Dentist.

Storage.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Umatilla House, is the only building "not made of wood," at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1 50 per ton per month storage, and although storage in wooden buildings is $1 00 per ton, yet the public cannot fail to perceive the advantage the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place.

Dyspepsia, or Indigestion.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 1, 1859.

Messrs. A. L. SCOVILL & Co.—Gents: I have found DR. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS one of the best medicines for DYSPEPSIA that I ever used. I had been afflicted with the disease for more than six months, and my victuals disturbed my stomach, often to such a degree as to cause vomiting. I was most of the time costive. I found that the Pills kept my bowels open, without griping or pain. I have actually gained, since using them, in weight—being ten pounds heavier than when I commenced. I owe my cure solely to use of the Pills. GEORGE DANA.

DESPERATE ENCOUNTER.—Profound lovers of bounteous, beautiful Nature, as we are, we took advantage of the balmy air last evening and rambled to the outskirts of the city and [illegible]. We were buried in reflections deep and startling—meditating the production of a leading article which as a thunderbolt hurl'd from High Olympus, would shake the foundations of the civilized world. Our thoughts profound were suddenly and inharmoniously interrupted. We looked around, and beheld that we were not alone. A brace of denizens from Pike were engaged in loud and bitter declamation, interlarding the same with many ferocious and hostile demonstrations. Ever faithful to our motto of "Peace and good-will," we hastened to the scene, to allay this angry strife of words but before we could meditate a fierce combat commenced. Pike No. 1, who reminded us forcibly of "Slim Jim, the poet" scientifically let fly his left, which direct from the shoulder and aimed with beautiful precision, landed precisely in the center of the celestial countenance of No. 2, and produced to the astonished gaze of that wronged individual a most unnatural and startling astronomical phenomena. By no means desirous of becoming receiver-general of such touching traits of affection, we held ourselves aloof, and looked on. Nothing daunted, Pike the Second rushed in and clinched. Desperate and dusty was the [illegible]. At times fortune favored "Slim Jim," but the fickle godess as often smiled on the indomitable Pike the Second.

"When Greek meets Greek
Then comes the tug of war."

[illegible] ly there was a cessation of hostilities, and both combatants rose, blowing and puffy, each glaring fiercely and vindictively at his foe. As the winged arrow speeds from its bow now rushed No. 2 at the Slim One, [illegible] headlong into the paunch of that doughty chieftain, who thereupon doubled up and bellowed lustily for quarter [illegible] the magnanimous Pike the Second graciously conceded and we then advanced to [illegible] overtures of peace, which were accepted. To ratify and strengthen this treaty, the motor proposed a "smile" and invited us, as sole spectator, judge and referee of the combat, to smile in concert. Our austere dignity [illegible] the temptation of wit[illegible] and partaking this offered bond of friendship, so we graciously assented. We are not certain that we did not twice "smile," for we became suddenly most benignant, forgave mankind in general, and concluded to stay our pen, withhold our thunderbolt, and for the present permit the foundations of civilized society to proceed on the "even tenor of their way."

NEW BRICK BLOCK.—The old Columbian Hotel, once the leading hotel in the city, but now sadly dilapidated, is to be pulled down in a week or so. In its place Mr. Thos Carter is going to build a fine three-story brick block.

SAILED.—The steamer Sierra Nevada was to sail from San Francisco yesterday, the 7th, direct for this place. She will probably arrive here next Friday evening.

THANKS.—Mr. Barrett's constant and unparalleled generosity was again exemplified last night by leaving on our table, Godey's, Peterson's and all the July magazines, with the eastern papers. What he cannot furnish is [illegible]

[illegible] friends of Dr. Black will be interested to learn of his anticipated visit to San Francisco. He will leave a competent man in [charge] of his office during his absence.

ON BOAT.—We learn that some ingenious person at Corvallis has constructed a boat to run on the upper Willamette, and to be propelled by oxen. The first trial of the boat was not successful, as power enough could not be obtained to stem the swift current, and the boat was towed ashore by a steamer. Whether the experiment will end with the first trial or not we are unable to learn.

Breakfast-Table Talk.

To be a good talker, is a good thing The gift, they say, can be acquired by kissing the Blarney Stone. To be a good listener, is in many respects, fully as desirable. What or who you may have to kiss to acquire that we are not aware. The clever talker often scatters gems at random. The appreciative listener picks them up and benefits by them. We came across one in this way in the breakfast room the other morning.

'Thomas K. Robson, editor of the Easton (Maryland) Star, charged with publishing treasonable articles in his paper, and Wm. Richardson, for uttering treasonable sentiments, have been sent beyond the Federal lines. Ahem! Pretty state of things, isn't it? Free country, isn't it? Constitutional, isn't it? Glorious privilege to be a free born American citizen, isn't it?'

Down as far as the 'Ahem' the above was read aloud from a morning paper, the the balance of the paragraph was made up by the comments of the reader—a red faced, nervous, fidgetty-looking little man, with a very sharp voice, who was sipping his coffee, reading the paper and commenting thereon by turns as the fancy swayed him for his own edification and that of any one who might choose to listen. We are not yet quite satisfied what he was politically—indeed, judging from his remarks, we doubt if his own mind was entirely clear upon that point, therefore we will not be so uncharitable as to call him rebel, much less a Peace Democrat, but will simply call him Non Sense.

'Great, glorious free country this is, sir, isn't it?' said he, laying down his paper and directly addressing a [illegible] in an opposite seat.

'Yes, sir, all of that,' replied the person addressed, whom for convenience we will designate Common Sense. He had hoped by assenting to the proposition to spike the other's guns; he only primed it. Assent or dissent as he might, N. S. had singled him out for immolation to his outrageous views of policy and propriety.

Non Sense.—'Yes, sir? No, SIR. It's the greatest despotism, the most horrible tyranny the world has ever witnessed. Nero and Caligula were kind-hearted gentlemen compared with Abe Lincoln.'

Common Sense.—'Does not the Government protect you in life, liberty, property, and in your daily pursuits?'

N. S.—'I'd like to know what else a Government is made for? Of course it does. You didn't suppose Governments were made to cut people's throats, I hope! But why does it undertake to shut my mouth? I won't have my mouth shut. I shan't stand it.'

C. S.—'But you are allowed all the liberty to discuss the actions and policy of the Government that you ever had. You have as much right to-day to oppose the policy of the Government as any citizen had during the Administrations of Washington, or Jefferson, or Jackson, but, you have as little right to resist it, by word or deed, or to countenance or encourage such resistance in others, as any good citizen then had.'

N. S.—'No, I haven't! My mouth is shut. My hands are tied. I'm gagged!'

C. S.—'What single thing is there that you would desire to say or do, in your cool reason, that you cannot say or do as freely and safely to-day as you ever could?'

N. S.—'What right has Government to suppose that I am always to be reasonable? There's no such right given in the Constitution. It's absurd, outrageous, and Abe Lincoln is an execrable despot to expect it!'

C. S.—'Has Government ever yet interfered with you?'

N. S.—'No, but I'm expecting every moment when it will. I've got nothing against the American flag; but suppose for a moment that I should take a fancy to tear one down and trample upon it—what would be the consequence? The old tyrant would put me in prison. I don't think any better of Jeff Davis than you do, but should the whim take me to drink his health or hurra for him in public, the autocrat would send me to Jeff Davis' presence. Or, for instance, if I should dissuade a man from enlisting in the army, or prevail on another to leave it, the merciless despot would fasten me to a ball and chain, and send me at hard labor, with bread and water rations. I don't want to do these things; but when they say I must not do them—why, you see that's what stirs up the old man!—that's where the galling and unblushing tyranny sticks out.'

C. S.—'You certainly have my sympathy, sir. Permit me to say, in the language of one you seem so much to admire: 'You remind me of an anecdote. The great Dr. Abernethy had snatched a patient as it were, from the jaws of death. While he was slowly recovering, the Doctor asked him one day, if he felt any pain in his chest. 'No, Doctor,' said the sick man, 'except when I put my arm in that position,' illustrating his words by twisting his arm into a most unnatural and uncalled for position—a situation such as the requirements of healthful and active life would never call for. The pain produced by the movement, caused a fainting fit, on recovering from which the Doctor said, looking full in the eyes of his patient, and shaking his fist in his face thus, [C. S. went through the motions indicated with alarming earnestness] 'You d—d fool! what could induce you to try so useless and dangerous an experiment?'

N. S. manifested no desire to continue the conversation, and when we left the table they were finishing in peace their cold and neglected coffee.

A story is told of a shrewd but no over honest stock raiser in Canada, who took the first prize at an agricultural show for a bull on which he had fitted a handsome pair of horns taken from a dead animal, besides artificially puffing out the skin in various places to conceal defects, and numerous other deceptive contrivances. He had learned those tricks, he said, by watching his wife from time to time, as she made her toilette for a ball.

Love, justice, and fortune are said to have no eyes, but all three make men open their eyes pretty wide sometimes.

Report of the City Attorney on the License Case

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Portland:

GENTLEMEN:—In the case of the City of Portland, vs. M. Stock, the Circuit Court has this day rendered a decision adverse to the City and declaring invalid the ordinance to enforce and regulate licenses in the City of Portland.

The ground upon which the decision is based is one from which it is difficult to trace the the conclusion arrived at.

Section 22d of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Oregon provides as follows:

"No act shall ever be revised or amended by mere reference to its title. But the act revised or section amended shall be set forth and published at full length."

The Court decides that the amendment to the City Charter of October 17th 1862 was not made in accordance with that provision of the Constitution and is therefore void.

The amendment of October 17th, 1862 provides exclusively for the assessment and taxation of lands within the city limits not laid off into lots and blocks and for the assessment and collection of harbor dues within the city.

It is not easy to discover the connection between the unconstitutionality of that amendment and the validity or invalidity of the license ordinance which was passed by virtue of the power conferred upon the city by the amendment of October 17th, 1862, and the Court has failed to enlighten us upon that point.

Presuming, however, that it was the intention of the Court to declare unconstitutional that amendment of the charter under which the license ordinance was enacted, I will mention briefly the reasons why, in my opinion, the positions taken by the Court are untenable.

Section 7 of the amendment of Oct. 17th 1862 is neither the revision of an act nor an amendment to any section of an act. It does not change one word in the charter of the city as it existed before, but merely confers additional power upon the city, and to hold that for the purpose of conferring additional powers upon a municipal corporation, it is necessary for the Legislature to recite and publish the whole charter, is to reduce legislation to an absurdity. The last Legislature passed an act covering two hundred and eighty six printed pages. Under the decision of the court, if any future Legislature shall wish to add three or four lines of an amendment to that act, it will be necessary for them to republish the whole two hundred and eighty six pages before they can do so constitutionally. In regard to a similar question which arose in our sister State the Supreme Court said:

"We regard this section of the constitution as merely directory and if we were inclined to a different opinion, would be careful how we lent ourselves to a construction which must, in effect, obliterate almost every law from the statute book, unhinge the business and industry the labor of the last three years. The contemporaneous exposition of the first legislature adopted or acquiesced in by every subsequent legislature, and tacitly assented to by Courts taken in connection with the fact that rights have grown up under it so that it has become a rule of property, must govern our decision."

No legislature that has met since the adoption of our State Constitution has considered it obligatory to republish all the past legislation of the Territory before they could change any of it.

The decision of the Circuit Court is a veto to a majority of the laws which have been passed since Oregon has been a State—to laws under which Courts have been holden, under which they have rendered judgments, under which taxes have been assessed and collected, roads laid out, opened, and improved, judges drawn their salaries, and under which supposed rights have been acquired by individuals and by corporations after tedious and expensive litigation. I will specify a few of the acts over which this veto power is exercised.

1st. At the extra session of the Legislature in June, 1859, two important acts were passed altering and amending the Territorial law; the one relating to the selection and qualification of jurors for the Circuit Courts, and the other relating to the practice in the Supreme and Circuit Courts. From that time till the first of June last all the courts of the State have enforced those laws in blissful ignorance of their constitutional debility.

2d. On the 1st of June, 1859, an act was passed fixing the salaries of County Judges. At the following session of the Legislature, Oct. 19, 1860, that act was amended without reciting it and the salaries cut down as follows:

Jackson County	$300 00 a year.
Josephine	400 00
Douglas	400 00
Umpqua	100 00
Curry	40 00
Lane	400 00
Benton	500,00
Marion	150 00
Polk	100 50
Yamhill	400 00
Clackamas	300 00
Columbia	200 00
Clatsop	100 00

So, that if the last mentioned act is unconstitutional the judges in counties above named have a cause of action against the counties in which they served, for the sums per year above specified.

3d. June 3d, 1859, an act was passed, fixing the time for holding the Supreme and Circuit Courts.

Oct. 12 1860, that act was amended without reciting it and the time for holding Circuit Courts in Jackson, Josephine and Douglas counties was changed. If the amendment was unconstitutional all judgments and decrees rendered in the Circuit Courts of these counties since Oct. 12th, 1860 are absolutely null and void.

4th. June 3d, 1859, an act was passed, fixing the compensation of the State Printer. Oct. 19 1860 the act was amended without reciting it and the compensation for composition was cut down about twenty five per cent, so that under the decision of the Circuit Court the State Printer has a claim against the State for the extra wages of which he has been deprived by an unconstitutional amendment.

5th. The time for holding the Circuit Court in Wasco county is fixed by an amendment similar to those above mentioned and approved Oct. 19, 1860. If the amendment is void all judgments and decrees rendered in that county in the Circuit Court since that time are void.

6th. The original act fixing the times and places of holding County Commissioners Courts has been altered and amended frequently in the same unconstitutional manner and all the acts of County Commissioners in a majority of the counties of the State for the last two years are absolutely null and void.

7. The decision of the Circuit Court invalidates the Code passed at the last session of the Legislature and all proceedings held under it, and as the Circuit Court was acting under that Code in the case of the City v. Stock, the decision of the Court in that case is a judicial suicide—it destroys itself.

8. It invalidates the present militia law of the State.

9. It invalidates the present school law.

10. It invalidates the present law fixing the times and places of holding Circuit and County Courts.

11. It invalidates the present law fixing the [illegible] and pl[illegible] of the State.

12. It invalidates the law of October 17, 1862 providing for the mode of payment of the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon.

13. It invalidates the present law fixing the time of the close of the terms of County Officers.

14. It invalidates the act changing the Judicial Districts of the State of Oregon.

15. It invalidates the act of October 15, 1862 re-districting the State into senatorial and representative districts.

16. It invalidates the act organizing Baker and Umatilla Counties.

17. The Statute of October 17, 1862 entitled "An Act to authorize the owners of land lying upon the banks of a navigable stream or other like waters, to build wharves in such stream or other water beyond the line of low water mark," is in effect an amendment to the Charter of the City of Portland in the same sense that Section seven of the amendment of October 17, 1862 is an amendment thereto. The act in question confers additional powers upon the city authorities, to wit: the power to regulate and restrain the building of wharves below low water mark, but does not alter or change any existing provision of the Charter. It is precisely similar in its nature to Section seven of the amendment above; and if the latter is unconstitutional so is the former, and every wharf in the city of Portland is liable to indictment as a public nuisance.

Numerous other acts of less general importance are embraced in this sweeping veto of the Circuit Court.

With regard to a few of the acts I have mentioned there may be some difference of opinion among lawyers—not as to the legitimate and logical effect of the decision of the Circuit Court—but as to the question whether any Court would follow that decision, legitimately and logically, to the bitter end.

It is natural to expect that a Court seeking to overturn half the legislation of the State by one blow, would give some reason for its action. The Circuit Court in acknowledgment of the justice of that expectation, argues as follows:

"The 22d Section of Article IV of our constitution provides as follows: 'No act shall ever be revised or amended by mere reference to its title, but the act revised or section amended shall be set forth and published at full length.'

The clear and plain meaning of this section, it would seem, cannot be mistaken. If the words are allowed to have their usual and undisputed signification, it must have been intended that whenever an act or a part of an act shall be amended or revised, the old law shall be exhibited on the same page with the proposed amendment, so that the legislator may see at a glance the contrast and be the better prepared to act understandingly."

The italics are mine. Throughout the whole course of the opinion of the Court, that is the only reason advanced for the extraordinary conclusion arrived at, and that "reason" has no foundation. The Constitution says that the act revised or section amended shall be set forth and published at full length.—Now when is an Act of the Legislature published? Usually from two to three months after the adjournment of the Legislative Assembly. So that in the opinion of the Court, it is necessary to publish the act amended or revised, on the same page with the proposed amendment, "so that the legislator may see at a glance the contrast and be better prepared to act understandingly"—from two to three months after he has any occasion to act at all.

I would therefore most respectfully advise your Honorable Body, to take such steps as are necessary to bring the question involved in the case of the City v. Stock, before the Supreme Court at the next September term thereof. It is important for the City to ascertain its rights and I cannot believe that in this case, the Supreme Court will affirm a decision founded neither on principle nor authority, but on a forced and whimsical construction of the Constitution—which is a virtual veto to a large proportion of all the acts passed by the Legislatures of the State of Oregon, and which involves consequences so disastrous, not only to the City of Portland, but to the community and State.

Very respectfully,
E. W. McGRAW,
City Attorney.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public; and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,

PHYSICIANS
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?

Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whisky or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23d, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours,
ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to health.
